INTRODUCTION

A. The Background of the Problem

Language is very important for our life, it takes a part as a communication tool among human. People will get difficulty in expressing their ideas, opinions, and feeling without language. English is world-widely spoken to communicate each other in every fields, such as education, economy, technology, social and cultures. Therefore most countries makes English as the first language studied after their native language. Indonesia as a developing country sees that studying English as foreign language is very important to survive in this globalization.

Considering the importance of English, the government has included it as one of the subject that should be taught by the students. English is taught at school starting from elementary school up to university. The purpose of teaching foreign language, in this case is English is to make students master on the four language skills. The four skills are listening, speaking, reading, and writing. To gain four skills above, we should master on the language components such as the knowledge of structure, pronunciation, spelling, and vocabulary but these are not easy.

One of the most important components is vocabulary. Vocabulary is used to express ideas and to communicate to people in civilized world. It is important to study about vocabulary because when learning a foreign language, and lack of the vocabulary, it is difficult to understand and to gain the meaning of the language itself. But if vocabularies has enough, it is easy to learn a new language and to understand the meaning of the language.

One of the ways to enrich vocabularies in English is forming new words by attaching some affixes to the basic word or root morpheme. Affixes are morphemes that are not free, in that it must always be attached to a root morpheme. It is basically a morpheme which is generally attached to the base morpheme, which is either the root in order to add the formation of a word. The process of attaching affixes to the root morpheme is called as affixation.

Affixation is very important in understanding language. It is helpful in getting the meaning of the speaker and also when reading the printed text: it can be book, article, magazine, and newspaper. The writer's ideas can be taken based on the affixes that are attached to the root morpheme that he/ she writes.

The study of the internal structure of words, and of the rules by which words are formed, is called morphology. Morphology is the study of morphemes and their arrangements in forming words. Morphemes are the minimal meaningful unit which may constitute words or parts of words, e.g. re-, de-, un-, -ish, -ly, -ceive, -mand, tie, boy, and like in the combinations receive, demand, untie, boyish, likely. The morpheme arrangements which are treated under the morphology of a language include all combinations that form words or parts of words. Combinations of words into phrases and sentences are treated under the syntax.¹

In Linguistics, morphology refers to the mental system involved in word formation and a branch of linguistics that deals with words, their internal structure, and how they are formed. As the analysis of word structure, morphology involves types of word formation, such as derivation, compounding, clipping, acronym, blend, borrowing, backformation, coinage, conversion, and multiple process. By using those types of word formation, morphology phenomena in news paper, book, article, magazine, and mass media can be analyzed.²

Newspaper is a kind of mass media. It gives the information in daily life, either news or entertainment. By reading newspaper, the events or incidents which happen indaily lifecan be known. The Jakarta Post is the most daily popular Indonesian newspaper which uses English and is also famed both nationally and internationally. As English Department Students, reading The Jakarta Post Newspaper is very important thing. Besides can learn English structure, grammar or vocabulary enrichment, it is also give the information aboutthe events/incidents which happened in Indonesia and other spare worlds. So, automatically many information can be knownby reading it.

1. This research will give contribution and enrich study to the science of language education in general and specifically to linguistic.
2. This research is useful for English teacher as source of teaching. They can get learning material to be presented in the classroom made affixation as a material for students to be learnt.
3. This research can enrich the vocabulary and knowledge of English learners about affixation in English words. They can use their understanding of it for English language activity. For example write a journal, article, essay, etc. and their daily conversations.

4. To other researcher, it can be made as a reference in the field of language.

F. The Definition of Key Terms

To avoid misunderstanding in assuming the title of the research, then it would be clarified the definition of key terms in title: Affixation in Opinion Article of Jakarta Post Article on Tuesday September 1st, 2015.

1. Affixation

Affixation is process of adding affix in order to make or to form a new word. According Samsuri, afiksasi adalah penggabungan akar atau pokok dengan afik.³ It means that, affixation is merging root or basic word with affix. Afiksasi adalah proses penambahan afik pada suatu satuan, baik satuan itu berupa bentuk tunggal maupun bentuk kompleks, untuk membentuk kata.⁴ It means that, affixation is a process of adding an affix to the unit; whether it is a single unit or complex unit to form new words.

So, affixation is the process of adding words at the beginning or ending of basic words and can be on the both of it. By attaching affixes to the basic word, it creates new words in different meaning and different part of speech of the basic word.

2. Opinion article

³Samsuri, Analisis Bahasa (Jakarta: Erlangga, 1981), p. 190.

⁴Tarigan, Henry Guntur, Pengantar Kosakata (Bandung: Penerbit Angkasa, 1984), p. 105.

According the Oxford's Learner's Pocket Dictionary defines opinion is a belief or judgment about something, not necessary based on fact or knowledge.⁵It means that opinion is someone's idea in seeing something, which is not important based on fact or reality and knowledge. According the Oxford's Learner's Pocket Dictionary defines article as 1). Piece of writing in newspaper, etc. 2). Separate part of an agreement or contract.⁶ It means article itself is written information are included mass media, it can be on newspaper, magazine, and other written media.

CHAPTER II

TEORITICAL DESCRIPTION

A. The Description of Affixation

1. Defenition of Affixation

Affixation is one process which most commonly in language. Affixation happened if a bound morpheme is attached to a free morpheme. By attaching bound morpheme to free morpheme, the fuction of word, the word class of the word and the meaning of the word can change. Robert Sibarani states, affixation is the bound morphemes which are added to a word which change the meaning or category/ the grammatical function of the word.¹

So, affixation is the process of forming or making new words by attacing or adding some affixes to the base or basic word, it can be at the beginning or the ending of the base or basic word. This process can change the meaning of one word to be two, three and to show the grammatical function. For example the word “happy”. This word can be changed in to happiness, unhappy, unhappiness.

2. Type of Affixes

There are two types of affixes. It will consider in turn.

¹Sibarani Robert, An Introduction to Morphology(Medan: Poda, 2006), p.30.

a. Prefixes

Affixes that precede the main part of the word are called prefixes.²Prefix is the affixes which can be added to the beginning . Prefix is a letter added to the front of a word that can change the meaning of the word.

Some affixes have to be added to the beginning of the word (e.g. un, mis). These are called prefixes.³Prefix is a letter or group of letters attached to the beginning of word that partindicates its meaning. For example, the word prefix itself begins with a prefix-pre, with generally means before. Understanding of the common prefixes can help deduce the meaning of new words that encounter.

However, some of prefixes (such as in-) has more than one meaning.

Table 1. Example of prefixes

No.	Prefix	Formula	Word	Class	Meaning
1.	Re-	Pre + V	Redo	Verb	Doing something again
2	In-	Pre + Adj	Inside	Adj	Part of something
3.	Dis-	Pre + V	Disagree	Verb	Has different opinion
4.	Be-	Pre + Adj	Belittle	Verb	Un important
5.	Un-	Pre + Adj	Unlimited	Adj	High quality

²Martin Haspelmath, Understanding Morphology(London: Great Britain for Hodder Education, 2010) , p. 20.

³George Yule, The Study of Language (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), p. 59.

b. Suffixes

A suffix is added to the end of the word that can change the meaning of the word. The opposite of prefix is suffix. Foresman said that a suffix is a derivative word parts added to the end of the word. Suffix is the affixes can be added to the end of a word. Affixes that follow the main part of the word are called suffixes.⁴ Same with prefixes, suffixes are morpheme that can not stand alone without attaching to the free morpheme or basic word. The word's meaning will change after attaching suffix to the basic word. It can be denoted negative meaning, formed abstract noun, denoted plural form, and soon.

Table 2. Example of suffixes

No.	Suffix	Formula	Word	Class	Meaning
1	-s	V + suf	Writes	V	Forms letter with instrument ex; pen, pencil, marker
2	-est	Adj+ -est	Oldest	Adj.	Mature or has lived long time
3	-er	V + -er	Driver	N	People who bring transportation tool ex.; car, bus, taxi
4	-al	V + -al	Arrival	N	The process of arriving
5	-ion	V + -ion	Creation	N	Someone's ideas

⁴Martin Haspelmath, Op. Cit., p. 20.

3. The Process of Affixation

a. Inflectional

Inflection refers to word formation that does not change category and does not create new lexemes, but rather changes the form of lexemes so that they fit into different grammatical contexts. Grammatical meaning can include information about number (singular vs. plural), person (first, second, third), tense (past, present, future), and other distinctions as well.⁵ From this definition, can be taken the conclusion that inflectional is the process in affixation that do not change the meaning and part of speech of the basic word. It also do not create new words in other part of speech. It just denotes the grammatical function. Such in forming the plural form of noun (cats, flowers, books, etc.), denoting present form in singular third person (brings, eats, teaches, etc.), denoting past form (studied, brought, cooked, etc.), denoting present participle (writing, reading, walking, etc), denoting past participle (cooked, listened, seen), denoting possession (Andy's, boy's, someone's, etc.), denoting comparative degree of adjective (best, better, stronger, strongest).

Example:

⁵Rochelle Lieber, Introducing Morphology(New York: Cambridge University Press, 2009), p. 88.

b. Derivational

Derivational patterns commonly change the word-class of the base lexeme – i.e. nouns can be derived from verbs, adjectives from nouns, and so on. For such cases, the terms denominal (‘derived from a noun’), deverbal (‘derived from a verb’) and deadjectival (‘derived from an adjective’) are in general use.⁶ It means that derivational pattern generally change the word class or part of speech of the basic word. It can create new words or lexemes in other word class or part of speech. We can create more than one word in different meaning and different part of speech by attaching affixes in derivational process.

The basic function of derivational process is to enable the language use to make new lexemes. Lexemes belong to lexical categories such as Noun, Verb, and Adjective and the derived lexemes may belong to a different category than their bases.⁷So, derivation is a process of word formation or forming new words by adding affixes, which can be a prefix or suffix. The resulting new word will have a different meaning of the word essentially or the word class of it words.

It can be concluded that derivational prefixes is affixes that added to the beginning of the basic word where it can change the meaning of the basic word. By attaching prefixes to the basic word, it can create new word more than one in different meaning. All prefixes in derivational process have effects to the basic word. It can denote or form adjectives with sense of without or not (amoral, asocial), form adjectives with sense of against (anti romantic, anti national), denotes two (bicycle, bilateral), denotes not, back, against, (unable, unnatural, undo, unblind) an soon.

Example:

2) Derivational suffixes

Some important suffixes:

a) Noun suffixes (formation of abstract noun)

Nominal suffixes are often employed to derive abstract nouns from verbs, adjectives and nouns. Such abstract nouns can denote actions, results of actions, or other related concepts, but also properties, qualities and the like. Another large group of nominal suffixes derives person nouns of various sorts. Very often, these meanings are extended to other, related senses so that practically each suffix can be shown to be able to express more than one meaning, with the semantic domains of different suffixes often overlapping.⁹

- (1) Age : baggage, mileage, foliage, bondage, personage, marriage, breakage, leakage
- (2) Ance, ence: abundance, brialliance, assistance, excellence, innocence, observance
- (3) Cy, sy: lunacy, aristocracy, democrazy, phantasy, fancy, accuracy, bankruptcy
- (4) Dom : freedom, wisdom, kingdom, martyrdom, boredom
- (5) Hood : childhood, manhood, neighbourhood, womanhood
- (6) Ing: reading, writing, speaking, [VERBAL NOUNS]
- (7) Ion : action, expression, araton, radiation, tension, opinion, unioun
- (8) Ice : cowardice, practice, service, avarice, exercise
- (9) Ism : socialism, capitalism, patriotism, linguism, journalism
- (10) Ment: punishment, astonishment, enchantment, judgement, improvement, disappointment, announcement, appointment

⁹Ingo Plag, Word-formation in English (New York: Cambridge University Press, 2003), p. 86.

- (11) Mony: harmany, matrimony, ceremony, parsimony, testimony
 - (12) Ness: boldness, calmness, openness, darkness, kindness, goodness, greatness, sweetness

 - (17) Y: envy, memory, gluttony, villainy, study, remedy, misery, victory
- b) Noun suffixes (formation of noun denoting person or agents).

Nouns denoting persons and places can take the suffix -
(i)an. Derivatives seem to have the general meaning ‘person having to do with X’ (as in technician, historian, Utopian), which, where appropriate, can be more specifically interpreted as ‘being from X’ or ‘being of X origin’ (e.g. Bostonian, Lancastrian, Mongolian, Scandinavian), or ‘being the follower or supporter of X’: Anglican, Chomskyan, Smithsonian. Many -
(i)an derivatives are also used as adjectives.¹⁰ Example:

- (1) Ard: coward, drunkard, dullard, sluggard, niggard
- (2) Ate, ee, ey, y: advocate, curate, magnate, examinee, payee, absentee, attorney, jury trustee, deputy
- (3) Er, or, ar, eer, ier, ary: speaker, writer, orator, sailor, beggar, mountainer, dignitary, pamphleteer, secretary, financier, painter, baker, lawyer, scholar, preacher, engineer, missionary, emperor, saviour, amateur, interpreter

- (4) Ain, an, en, on: captain, villain, chieftain, pagon, librarian, citizen, warden, sexton, deacon, artisan, surgeon
- (5) Ist, ast: dentist, novelist, scientist, enthuriast
- (6) Ster: youngster, songster, spinster, trickster
- (7) Monger: war monger, fish monger, iron monger, rumour monger
- (8) Wright: play wright, wheel-wright, chart wright
- (9) Ter, ther: mother, father, brother, sister, doughter
- c) Noun suffixes (formation of diminutives)
 - (1) Let: booklet, pamphlet, rivulet, streamlet, owlet, leaflet, lancet, trumpet
 - (2) Ling: duckling, darling, stripling, weakling
 - (3) Ock: hillock, bullock, paddock
 - (4) El, le, ule, cel, sel, cle: globule, granule, parcel, damsel, paarticle, chronicle, corpuscale, satchel, kernel, girdle, handle, chaple, circle, animal cule
 - (5) Erel: chockerel, pickerel, mongrel
 - (6) En: chicken, kitten, maiden
 - (7) Et, ette: coronet, packet, cigarette, kitchenette, casettee
 - (8) Y, ie: daddy, mummy, birdie, girlie, puppy
 - (9) Kin: lambkin, napkin
- d) Noun suffixes (other noun suffixes)
 - (1) Ic, ique : logic, lunatic, physic, physique, critic, critique
 - (2) Ary, ery, ory, ry: airary, dispensary, dormitory, nunnery, monastery, vestry, pantry, library, treasury
 - (3) Ant: merchant, descendant, tenat, giant
 - (4) Al: animal, capital, arrival, denial, proposal
 - (5) Ade: crusade, brigade, cassade, blockade, barraicade¹¹

Based on explanation above, the researcher can take the conclusion that there are four categorizes of noun suffixes in English, they are; noun suffixes formation of abstract noun, formation of nouns denoting person or agents, formation of diminutives and other noun suffixes. These suffixes can be used to form abstract noun, noun denoting person, diminutives and other noun suffixes by attaching these suffixes above to the basic word. By looking up the suffixes that are attached to the basic word, it will help us in getting the word meaning and it will enrich our vocabulary. Example:

¹¹JayanthiDakshinaMurty, Op. Cit., p. 349-351

e) Adjective suffixes

Derived adjectives are even less common than derived verbs, because adjectives are used more rarely than verbs, let alone nouns.¹²

¹²Martin Haspelmath, Op. Cit. p. 89

- (1) Al: national, provincial, regional, loyal, legal, regal, mortal, fatal, social, political
- (2) Ar: nuclear, lunar, solar, circular, familiar, regular

- (5) Able, ible, ble, bile: practicable, loveable, audible, visible, mobile, servile, fragile, juvenile
- (6) Ed: learned, bearded, moneyed, deserted, gifted, talented, wretched
- (7) En: molten, drunken, forbidden, frozen, wooden, golden, woolen, earthen
- (8) Ic, ique: rustic, public, aquatic, supersonic, patriotic, telegraphic, antique, unique, comic(al), tragic(al), politic(al), economic(al), electric(al), magic(al)
- (9) Esque: picturesque, grotesque, statysque

- (11) Ine: masculine, feminine, devine
- (12) Ish, sh: foolish, stylish, slavish, swinish, peevish, thievish, greenish, bluish, youngish, oldish, amateurish, boorish, bookish, reddish, girlis
- (13) Ive: progresssive, massive, active, talkactive, possessive,deceptive, attentive, sportive
- (14) Lent: violent, turbulent, virulent, corpulent, indolent
- (15) Less: senseless, meaningless, fearless, lawless, shameless, hopeless, boundless, speechless
- (16) Ly: beastly, friendly, manly, cowardly, kindly, godly, scholarly, heavenly, deadly
- (17) Ory: illusory, migratory, prefatory, introductory
- (18) Ous: glorious, curious, dangerous, murderous
- (19) Ate: fortunate, temperate, obstinate, delicate¹³

There are nineteen suffixes in adjective suffixes. Same with noun suffixes, these suffixes above also can be attached to the basic word to form adjective. We can create new words especially forming adjective by using these suffixes. The basic word will change in meaning and part of speech when these suffixes are attached to it.

¹³JayantiDaksina Murthy, Op. Cit., p. 351-352

Example:

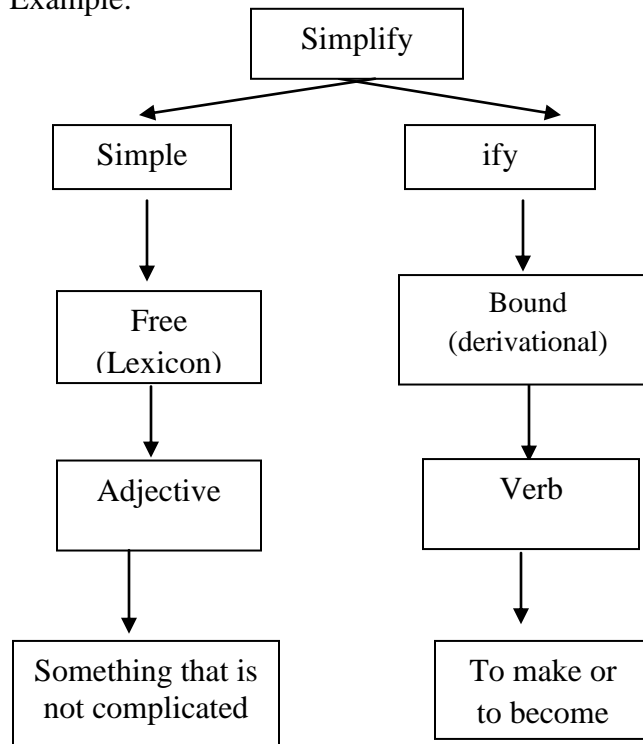

f) Verb suffixes

- (1) Ate, ite: mediate, nominate, designate, venerate, expedite, requite, invite, excite, captivate, exterminate, assassinate
- (2) En: broaden, brighten, lighten, fallen, strengthen, weaken, sweeten, gleadden, deaden

- (3) Fy: beautify, pacify, falsify, testify, simplify, purify, fortify, sanctify, terrify
- (4) Ise, ize: nationalise, equalize, liberalize, generalize, scandalize, monopolize, patronize, memorize, sympathize, materialize, criticize, ceremonize, philosophize, civilize
- (5) Se: cleanse, rinse
- (6) Ee: chatter, glitter, glimmer, fritter, flutter
- (7) Ish: publish, nourish, punish, banish¹⁴

There are seven suffixes in forming verb. Same with suffixes before, in forming verb these suffixes above can be used by attaching these suffixes to the basic word such as adjective and noun. We can enrich our vocabulary by attaching these suffixes to the basic word.

Example:

¹⁴*Ibid.*, p. 352.

Making something easy to understand or not complicated

g) Adverb suffixes

- (1) Ly: ably, aimlessly, beautifully, happily, clearly, cleverly, wisely, boldly, loudly, madly, roughly
- (2) Ingly: amazingly, lovingly, interestingly, surprisingly
- (3) Edly: crookedly, devotedly, mistakenly, dedicatedly, decidedly, daily, weekly, woolly, individually
- (4) Ce: once, twice, thrice
- (5) St: amidst, amongst
- (6) Ward: backward, forward, upward, onward, homeward
- (7) Way: straightway, anyway, always
- (8) Wise: likewise, otherwise¹⁵

There are eight suffixes in forming adverb. Same with all suffixes above, suffixes in adverb suffixes also gives effect to the basic word. The basic word can be changed to be adverb by attaching these suffixes above.

Example:

¹⁵*Ibid.*, p. 352.

From all explanation above, it can be concluded that suffixes in derivational suffixes can create new words or lexemes in various part of speech, such as noun, verb, adjective and adverb. It is added at the end of the basic word. It is very important for us to be known because it will enrich our vocabulary and makes easier in getting the meaning of the word based on suffixes that are attached to the basic word.

4. Opinion Article

a. Definition of opinion

According to the Oxford's Learner's Pocket Dictionary defines opinion is a belief or judgment about something, not necessary based on fact or

B. Review of Related Finding

This research is not as beginner related to the title but there are some researchers had been researched before relevant to this title, they were: First, the research was done by the students of University of Muria Kudus, Department of English Education. The researcher name is Sri Aryati with the title “An Analysis Of Derivational Affixes In The Land Of Five Towers Novel By A. Fuadi Translated By Angie Kilban”.²⁰ In this case she concluded that it shows that it has most frequently present are suffix -lyas an adverb marker in The Land of Five Towers Novel by A. Fuadi which have a meaning that the author wants to make a clarity for the readers about the expression of the actor or the condition that happened in his novel.

Second, the research was done by the student of English Education Department of IAIN Padangsidempuan. The researcher's name is Sri MulyaniSiregar with the title "The Analysis Of Affixation In Sport Article Of The Jakarta Post Newspaper at 330 editions Wednesday April 4, 2012".²¹ She found affixation; derivational and inflectional morphemes. She concluded that inflectional morpheme more dominant than derivational morpheme in sport article of the Jakarta Post newspaper. She found word various word functions in sport article of the Jakarta Post newspaper, such as: verb maker, adjective maker, noun maker and adverb maker.

Third, the research was done by the students of State Institute for Islamic Studies of Salatiga. The researcher's name is Sri RomadhonEkoYuliyanti with the title "The Analysis Of Derivational Process Of English Nouns As Found In Some Of The Jakarta Post Articles (Published On January, 2nd 2012)".²² She found 90 English nouns added through derivational process. The process of affixation changes some category of the base words, likes from verbs become nouns and from adjectives become nouns. There are 57 English nouns which derive from verb, 10 English nouns which produce from adjectives and 23 English nouns which derive from nouns.

From review of related findings above, they analyze about morphology that are free and bound morpheme, affixation, prefixes, suffixes, derivational and inflectional morphemes, and allomorphs. They searched in sport article of The Jakarta Post newspaper. The researcher did not find the same research that is analysis about morphology especially in opinion article of The Jakarta Post newspaper.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

A. The Kind of The Research

This research used descriptive research. This research used content analysis method of which kind is manifest coding. Muhammad Natsir said descriptive method as “suatu metode dalam meneliti status kelompok manusia, suatu objek, suatu sistem, pemikiran ataupun kelas peristiwa pada saat sekarang”.¹ It means that descriptive method is a method observes the status of group person, an object, a system, a thought or an event in present.

Berelson in Lexy J. Moleong states that content analysis as “kajian isi sebagai suatu tehnik penelitian untuk keperluan secara objektif, sistematis dan kuantitatif tentang manifestasi komunikasi”.² It means that content analysis as a technique in research for needing as objective, systematic, and quantitative about manifestation in communication.

Content analysis is a study that is depth discussion of the content of written or printed information in mass media. According to Syukur Kholil said that manifest coding is “analisis isi yang di dasarkan pada kata – kata atau kalimat, gambar, simbol yang dinyatakan secara explicit dalam teks”.³ It means that manifest coding is a kind of analysis that analyzes words, sentence, pictures, and symbols that states or expresses explicitly in a text. So, this research is done by descriptive research and uses content analysis which use manifest coding.

¹Muhammad Natsir, Metode Penelitian (Jakarta: Ghalia Indonesia, 1998) , p. 63.

²Lexy J. Moleong, Metode Penelitian Kualitatif(Bandung: Remaja Rosda Karya, 2004), p. 163

The researcher did the research with the first step was reading the opinion articles. Second step was analysis affixation with use coding. Next step was the researcher noted all data. The last step was the researcher analyzed the data in three articles of the Jakarta Post Newspaper on Tuesday September 1, 2015.

B. The Data Source

The sources of the data for this research were three articles of Jakarta Post Newspaper on Tuesday September 1st, 2015, they are:

1. Profit Shifting by Multinationals, (Why) Should We Care
2. Worrying Side of Mobile Telephony Diffusion
3. The Bersih 4: Remember the Sacrifices

C. The Instrument of the Research

The instrument of the research is morphological analysis. Morphology not only deals with the analysis of existing words into their constituent pieces. The language user is able to make new words or forms of words, and it is this form of creativity that is the focus of morphology. Words can be divided into different kinds of morphemes such as roots and affixes, the morphological atoms of language.⁴The analytic approach has to do with breaking words down, and it is usually associated with basic word, prefix, and suffixes in derivational and inflectional process.

Based on the explanations above, the researcher analyses opinion article by finding words that consist of affixes: prefixes and suffixes which inflectional or derivational. Then, find out word function after attaching some affixes to the basic word. Instrument is completion which can be seen in appendix 11.

D. Technique of the Collecting Data

The data collected from reading and analyzing affixation in opinion articles. The researcher did data collecting technique which suggested by Syukur Kholil as follows:⁵

1. Reading, in this case the researcher read all opinion article, start from early until the last, so that the researcher can comprehend and easier in analyzing opinion articles.
2. Noting, in this case after reading the opinion articles then all data that relate to purposes of the research noted to facilitate in analyzing the data.
3. Grouping, in this case data that have been read and noted, and then groped to easier in analyzing and getting its result.

E. Technique of Checking Ttrustworthiness of Data

Trustworthiness in qualitative research is very important because checking for trustworthiness is used to contradict the assumption of qualitative research is not scientific. To reduce the bias of the data and to improve the validity of the data collected, Gay suggested several strategies as follow:

1. Extend the study by staying in the field for a longer period obtain additional data that can be compared to the earlier data or to compare participant's consistency of responses.
2. Include additional participant to broaden the representativeness of the study and thus the database.
3. Make a concerted effort to obtain participant trust and comfort, thus providing more detailed, honest information from participant.
4. Try to recognize one's own biases and preferences and be honest oneself in seeking them out.
5. Work with another researcher and independently gather and compare data collected from subgroup of the participant.
6. Use verbatim accounts of observation or interviews by collecting and recording data with tape recordings or detailed field notes.
7. Record in a journal one's own reflection, concern, during studying and refer to them when examining the data collected.
8. Examine unusual result for explanations.
9. Triangulate by using different data sources to confirm one another, as when interview, and recollections of other participants produce the same description of an event, or when a participant response similarly to a personal question asked on three different occasions.⁶

Lexy J Moleong check the truthworthiness of the data suggested several strategies as follows:

1. Participations prolongation
2. Observing persistence
3. Triangulated
4. Checking with friends by discussing
5. Analysis negative case
6. References sufficiency
7. Member checking
8. Description detail
9. Auditing⁷

⁷ Lexy J. Leong, Metode Penelitian Kualitatif, (Bandung: Remaja Rosda Karya Offset, 1999), p. 131.

To make this research result far from bias, from strategies above, the researcher just take checking with friends by discussing. The researcher works with friend to compare data for checking the trustworthiness of the data.

F. Technique of Data Analysis

According to Lexy J. Moleong, data analysis is process in managing data, organizing it in order a pattern, categorizing and unit breakdown of basic, so in the end gathered of data.⁸

Related to the formulation of the problem of this research, the researcher will analyze data as follow:

1. Identifying affixes in opinion articles of Jakarta Post newspaper On Tuesday September 1st, 2015.
2. Finding the words function that dominant in opinion articles of Jakarta Post newspaper On Tuesday September 1st, 2015.
3. Explaining word function dominant in opinion articles of Jakarta Post newspaper On Tuesday September 1st, 2015.

⁸*Ibid.*, p. 175.

CHAPTER IV

RESULT FINDINGS

A. The Data

It has been stated in the previous chapter that the data which were used in this research are from three Opinion articles in Jakarta Post Newspaper on Tuesday September 1st, 2015. Three articles of opinion article in Jakarta Post Newspaper were obtained to be analyzed, they are: Profit Shifting by Multinationals, (Why) Should We Care, Worrying Side of Mobile Telephony Diffusion and The Bersih 4: Remember the Sacrifices.

B. Analysis of the Data

Having collecting the data taken from opinion articles in the Jakarta Post Newspaper, then researcher analyzed the data by using the following steps: first, identifying affixes in opinion articles of Jakarta Post Newspaper on Tuesday September 1st, 2015. It consisted of description of affixation processes and finding words functions after attaching affixes to the root morpheme. Second, counting the total of each affixation to find out the most dominant affixation. Third, explaining why the word function is dominant.

1. Affixes in Opinion Articles of Jakarta Post Newspaper on Tuesday September 1st, 2015

There were affixation in opinion articles that exist in Jakarta Post Newspaper on Tuesday September 1st, 2015 loads the articles, it can be looked at the appendix 4, 5 and 6.

In the first article (Profit Shifting by Multinationals, (Why) Should We Care), the researcher found affixes in derivational and inflectional process. In derivational process, there were prefixes as follow; Multi-, Co-, Dis-, In-, Pre-, Re-. Meanwhile, suffixes were – ing, -ise, -er, --al, -ence, -an, -ion, -ship, -ment, -ce, -ity, -ory, -ance, -cy, -ise, -able, -ive, -al, -d, -ous, -ary, -ic, and –ly. In inflectional process there were suffixes as follow; -s/es, -‘s, -d/ed, -ing, -er, and -est.

In the second article (Worrying Side of Mobile Telephony Diffusion), the researcher found affixes in derivational and inflectional process. In derivational process, there were prefixes as follow; Tele-, Co-, and Em-. B. Suggestions

Based on conclusions stated above, the researcher proposes some suggestions to be taken as consideration, there are follows:

1. It is suggestion to apply affixation. It is very important because it can enrich our vocabularies. We can form new words more than one by attaching affixes to the basic word. It is also help us in mastering the four language skills such as in listening, reading, speaking and writing. In listening, it will make us easier in understanding what speaker said. In reading, it makes us easier in getting the information and the ideas in the text. In speaking, it makes us easier in giving the information by choosing the words as simple as possible. The last is in writing, it is also makes us easier in explaining our ideas through writing and we can make reader easy in understanding our writing.

2. It is suggestion to apply affixation because we can form new words in different meaning and word class from a basic word. For example word teach (verb), it can be change to noun form (teacher). Suffix -er in that word denotes the agent who works in transferring his knowledge in a school. Affixes that are attached to the basic words also give us the indication of tense form. For example My mother cooked the cake. It shows that mother cook the cake in the last time. We know it from suffixes -ed that attach to the verb.
3. It is suggestion to the next researcher to use the affixation theory on doing the further research on affixation in a text such as article in order to improve their knowledge and understanding about affixation and able to forming new words based on affixation. It is suggestion to the reader to use the research become references to understanding about affixation to find the meaning and the purpose of their books easier.
